

Live Streaming

I am using Live Streaming with the YouTube Stream Now option and couldn't connect. I found out that my Stream Name/Key changed. Do you know if YouTube automatically changes this periodically?

When Live Streaming does not appear to be working as expected, especially after it's been working in the past, it is recommended that the first thing to check and verify is the "Stream name/key."

And yes, the YouTube stream name/key has changed without notice in our testing in the past. We do not know when or why Google/YouTube changes these settings but it sure would be nice if they notified users of these changes.

It is encouraged for users to reach out to support when you have issues like these. Here are some ways to contact
